

Sevenfold Revelation of His Glory

Revelation of Jesus, the Just Judge

1. Both Daniel and John were given phenomenal revelatory encounters with the just Judge.
2. His judgments are perfect, and His ways far surpass the scrutiny of human understanding.
3. His justice embodies a promise for the welfare of His people and the unfolding of His Kingdom on earth.
4. His mysterious justice unlocks the virtue of Heaven.
5. The apostle John's account described several different aspects of God's justice in the book of Revelation.
6. He saw the Lord adorned in His royal attire, representing His authority

His Hair White like Snow

1. John's depiction of the Lord's hair—"white like snow"—symbolizes the supreme wisdom by which He judges the affairs of humanity.
2. The people of Israel vividly remembered the glory once resident in their nation under the leadership of King Solomon.
3. The heavenly impartation of wisdom given to this king is legendary; but now one greater than Solomon has come.
4. Jesus, who is the source of all wisdom, will judge humanity according to the books of Heaven.
5. Both John and Daniel saw the purity of God's wisdom in His justice portrayed by hair white like snow.
6. Revealed as the suffering Lamb, the overcoming King we will now see shall wage war and render justice upon His enemies (Revelation 19:11).

His Eyes like a Flame of Fire

1. The penetrating and fiery eyes of Jesus the Just Judge have seen all that has taken place throughout history.
2. Nothing has escaped His notice; even humanity's motives and thoughts resonate in Heaven.
3. The eyes of God have recorded every act of righteousness and every injustice on earth.
4. Not one injustice will be left without restitution and restoration.

For who has despised the day of small things? But these seven will be glad when they see the plumb line in the hand of Zerubbabel— these are the eyes of the LORD which range to and fro throughout the earth.
—Zechariah 4:10

Feet like Burnished Bronze

1. His burnished bronze feet represent His right to stand executing justice.
2. Bronze is a very hard substance that has been tried by fire.
3. The sinless, spotless Son of God endured the harshness of iniquity on behalf of all humanity.
4. The fiery furnace of God's wrath against sin was heaped upon the Lord Jesus.
5. He took it to the cross and won the right to release justice in the earth.
6. His feet will stand upon the land and sea and deliver justice in the human realm.
7. Only He can carry the burden of this royal responsibility; only He has paid the great price for that redemption.
8. Moses prophetically saw the Lord, in His glory, revealing the attributes of both mercy and justice.
9. As the Lord passed before Moses, He declared His eternal qualities of compassion and grace. He is slow to anger and abounds in loving-kindness and truth.
10. He extends mercy and forgiveness to thousands, pardoning iniquity, transgression and sin. But by no means does He leave the guilt of sin unpunished.
11. If iniquity has been released through repentance to the Lord Jesus, no judgment for sin remains. Justice then bestows blessings, favor, and grace to the righteous.

The Sound of Many Waters

1. Waters often symbolically point to the multitudes of peoples and nations.
2. In their midst, His voice is the voice of ultimate authority and power.
3. Throughout the ages a prophetic message has been entrusted to every generation through messengers of Heaven.
4. An allotted portion of heavenly manna has been deposited in every juncture of Church history.
5. Daniel, in his prayer of repentance, acknowledged that the people of his day did not obey the voice of the Lord presented to them through the prophets. He wrote:

Nor have we obeyed the voice of the LORD our God, to walk in His teachings which He set before us through His servants the prophets. —Daniel 9:10

When the day of justice arrives, every voice that has declared the revelation of God to his or her generation will sound as one. That voice will be the voice of the Holy Spirit rendering justice.

Seven Stars

1. The Holy Spirit uses humans to articulate His voice.
2. The seven stars seen by John are the ambassadors of Heaven who carried and imparted the revelation of Jesus to their generations.
3. Scriptures indicate that the seven stars were God's messengers.
4. The apostle Paul was a messenger and voice to the early Church. He worked in cooperation with the Holy Spirit and the host of Heaven. The message was oftentimes communicated to him and the apostle John through spiritual beings who embodied the revelation of God.
5. That pattern has continued throughout Church history and will be emphasized in this day.
6. Martin Luther was a messenger to his day, restoring the truth that the just shall live by faith.
7. The progressive recovery of lost heritage continued through the messengers of the next generation, including John Wesley, George Whitefield, John Knox, and many others.
8. Similarly the twentieth century also produced key prophetic voices who were pioneers burning with a message of truth.
9. The ministry of healing was restored to the corporate body along with the baptism of the Holy Spirit, as was witnessed at Azusa Street.
10. Ultimately this upcoming generation will comprise a company of messengers who not only impart a truth but actually embody the Truth. That is our promise and legacy.

Two-Edged Sword

1. The living Word is quick and powerful and sharper than a two-edged sword.
2. Only the Lord can separate spirit from soul. He is the one who discerns the thoughts and intentions of our hearts.
3. The Lord Jesus has the unique ability to examine and weigh our motives to determine if we are capable of carrying the authority of Heaven to our generation.
4. It is His intent and desire to live in and among His people; He seeks to bring revelation of Himself and His Word.

5. The Book of Revelation, declaring that Jesus is faithful and true, records that He will return on a white horse.
6. Embroidered on His garment will be the depiction of His person as the Word of God.
7. The Word became flesh and dwelt among humanity. He once again desires to do the same through His Church.

Face like the Sun

1. The Lord bears many holy attributes.
2. While some people still see the Lord as a baby in a manger, He is now an awesome, victorious, overcoming King. Great is His power and authority to be administered!
3. The Son of Righteousness will arise with healing in His wings and bring a fresh revelation of His nature to the earth.
4. The residue of glory resting on Moses after his face-to-face encounters with God overwhelmed the people of Israel. He was forced to cover his face because of the tangible impartation of heavenly virtue he carried.
5. Imagine what could happen in this generation! Christ in us—the hope of glory—this endowment will come to those who view Him with an unveiled face.

2 Corinthians 3:7-9

But if the ministry of death, in letters engraved on stones, came with glory, so that the sons of Israel could not look intently at the face of Moses because of the glory of his face, fading as it was, how will the ministry of the Spirit fail to be even more with glory? For if the ministry of condemnation has glory, much more does the ministry of righteousness abound in glory

Our Day of Justice

The apostle John was caught up in the Spirit and shown a revelation of the Lord Jesus, steeped in justice. The Lord has provided several supernatural signposts throughout the past decades to mark our place in biblical history. We can confidently approach the end-time promises received by John with faith and assurance of their application to the present hour in which we are living. Divine justice is a key to the Kingdom that will unlock great blessings and resources for the bride of Christ.
